Greenville, North Carolina

"The Hub of Eastern Carolina"

PREFACE

POPULATION GREATER GREENVILLE - 13,329

This city directory depicts the various opportunities Greenville has to offer as its position industriously, agriculturally, commercially and educatonally. Greenville stands unparalelled as the center of operation of the great eastern region of North Carolina.

CLIMATE

This section of which Greenville is the hub, fortune has blessed with a pleasant year around climate where there is no fear of storm of flood of destructive nature. The yearly average temperature is 61 degrees, the winters being mild and the other seasons ideal.

SHOPPING CENTER

There is no city of the East which has developed as rapidly as has Greenville as a shopping center. The wonderful highway system of Eastern Carolina with the city's high standard mercantile establishments, ranking second to none in their respective businesses, has contributed much in directing the public from twenty-five counties to Greenville, covering a radius of seventy-five miles. The city is worthy of the distinction it has attained of being "East Carolina's Shopping Center."

DISTRIBUTING CENTER

With the building of the great highway system of the eastern section of the State, by which Greenville is webbed, the city has gained recognition among many of the large manufacturers as the most logical distributing point, and as a result scores of such enterprises have taken advantage of these economical conveniences and placed their units and warehouses for district and State distribution in Greenville. There are seven hard surfaced highways leading from the city radiating in every direction which enables salesmen to serve a large territory within a short period of time.

AGRICULTURE

From a standpoint of agriculture, Greenville is situated in the heart of one of the greatest agricultural sections of the entire world. The various soils of this section are adapted to the production of any crops grown in any of the Southern States. Tobacco, cotton, peanuts and potatoes are the principal money crops with the farmers, while an abundance of grains and other feeds are provided for the live stock.

TOBACCO MARKET

Pitt County, of which Geenville is the capital, grows and sells more bright tobacco than any county in the world. Every buying interest both large and small is represented with sales force on the market and these operate scores of factory plants, furnishing labor for many thousands each tobacco season. Greenville is one of the few tobacco markets that has five sets of buyers. Nine large and modern tobacco factories and ten warehouses are located here. Greenville established a world's record last season when it sold 51,188,384 pounds of tobacco for $16,077,682.78, for an average of $31.41 per hundred pounds.

GOVERNMENT

The City of Greenville has the Mayor-Aldermen form of government. It has a municipally-owned water and light plant and a gas plant that is one of the city's greatest assets. The plants stand out foremost with the public utility institutions of the State. City tax rates have been reduced during the past five years until they are below the average.

EDUCATION AND RELIGION

Wonderful progress has been made by the city schools in the past decade and they have been a strong factor n the advancement of this city. The Greenville system is rated by the State Educational Department as A-1, which rank cannot be excelled by any other high school of the State. With the location of the East Carolina Teachers College here, no city can boast of greater educational advantages. Another important feature which contributes much to the living conditions of Greenville is its fine and modern public library. The religious life of Greenville is an active one. The citizenship is a church-going people. And the ministers serving the fifteen or more congregations are outstanding with their respective communities of the State.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS

Greenville has various civic and fraternal organizations including the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis, Woman's Club, Merchants' Association and numerous others. The civic organizations of Greenville have as one of the principal objectives of their activities the continued progress of the city. And in all matters pertaining to the further advancement of Greenville these organized bodies have always functioned as one unit, and their efforts have not only been brought to a beneficial conclusion for the city, but have created an unequalled spirit of cooperation among the citizenship.
